Forecast For West Midlands
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Monday 22 Feb 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Rain through the morning, becoming dry later. Feeling mild.

Today:
A wet start for most, though these outbreaks of rain will clear eastwards through the morning, leaving a dry afternoon, with some sunny spells possible later. Light winds throughout, and feeling mild, especially in the sunshine. Maximum temperature 11 deg C (52 deg F).

Tonight:
Tonight will remain dry, with some clearer skies through the evening before cloud returns overnight. Further clear spells towards dawn. Winds begin to strengthen through the night. Minimum temperature 4 deg C (39 deg F).

Tuesday:
Staying dry across the region, though the odd shower of rain remains possible in westernmost areas through the morning. Sunny spells early on, before turning cloudy. Windy, but remaining mild. Maximum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Outlook for Wednesday to Friday:
Largely dry, cloudy, and windy again on Wednesday. Sunny spells with some isolated showers on Thursday, and lighter winds. Dry and bright on Friday. Mild days but increasingly colder nights.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.